

CALL FOR PAPERS

ICIPSUI 2020
Sep 23-24, 2020
Vancouver, Canada

The International Research Conference is a federated organization dedicated to bringing together a significant number of diverse scholarly events for presentation within the conference program. Events will run over a span of time during the conference depending on the number and length of the presentations.

ICIPSUI 2020 : International Conference on Informalizing Public Space and Urban Intensity is the premier interdisciplinary forum for the presentation of new advances and research results in the fields of Informalizing Public Space and Urban Intensity. The conference will bring together leading academic scientists, researchers and scholars in the domain of interest from around the world. Topics of interest for submission include, but are not limited to:

The role of informality in public space
Forms of informality take place in public space
Different forms of informality work in public space
The role of the built environment
Urban design that most effectively address informality in the process of shaping and managing public spaces
The synergies and contradictions between formal and informal in public space
The in-between conditions
Forms of informality that compete for space and visibility

Methods that can be used to unravel the ways in which forms of informality work in public space
The adaptations and codes of informality in public space
The relations between urban informality and street-life intensity
The rhythms of informality in public space
The relations between spatial, social, and temporal aspects of informality in public space
Ways that can urban mapping be used to unravel the dynamics of informality in public space
Urban design interventions that enable or constrain the emergence and consolidation of informality in public space
Ways that can urban informality be sustained in public space