CALL FOR PAPERS

The International Research Conference is a federated organization dedicated to bringing together a significant number of diverse scholarly events for presentation within the conference program. Events will run over a span of time during the conference depending on the number and length of the presentations.

ICFEPA 2022 : International Conference on Forest Economics and Policy Analysis is the premier interdisciplinary forum for the presentation of new advances and research results in the fields of Forest Economics and Policy Analysis. The conference will bring together leading academic scientists, researchers and scholars in the domain of interest from around the world. Topics of interest for submission include, but are not limited to:

Forest economics
Forest management problems
Economics of silviculture
Forest regulation and operational activities
Managerial economics
Forest industry analysis
Economics of processing
Industrial organization problems
Demand and supply analysis
Technological change
International trade of forest products
Multiple use of forests
Valuation of non-market priced goods and services

Cost-benefit analysis of environment and timber production
External effects of forestry and forest industry
Forest policy analysis
Market and intervention failures
Regulation of forest management
Ownership and taxation
Land use and economic development
Deforestation and land use problem
National resource accounting
Contribution to national and regional income and employment
Forestry and climate change
Using forestry to mitigate climate change
Economic analysis of bioenergy